SlowSend: Rethink Your Connections

In the fast-paced world of instant messaging where immediacy is king, SlowSend invites you to take a breath and embrace the art of meaningful conversations. SlowSend isn't just another messaging app; it's a social experiment designed to enrich your connections, one delayed message at a time.

What SlowSend Does Differently

Unlike traditional instant messaging, SlowSend introduces a thoughtful delay to your messages, encouraging you to expand your social circle and engage more deeply with new acquaintances. When you message someone you've just met (within the last week), your messages send instantly, fostering new connections. For friends you've known longer, SlowSend adds a customizable pause before delivering your message, creating anticipation and making the eventual interaction more rewarding.

New Connection Priority: Instant messaging for new contacts to stimulate your social growth.

Customizable Delays: You control the length of the delay for each message, allowing you to set the pace of your conversations.

Reflection Timer: Before sending a message to an old friend, take a moment to reflect on your words, ensuring they're sent with intention.

Delayed Gratification Notifications: Get notified when your messages are delivered and read, turning everyday interactions into a moment of joy.
